PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

I am so pleased that a couple of student events are in the works. Once again the Sonatina Competition will be held in November, and a new event "Piano Caroling" is also being planned for December 16.

Last year the Sonatina Competition was successful because many hands were on deck. We are fortunate that all the chairpersons who served last year have agreed to serve again this year. Thank you Pernicia, Lisa, Jo, Allison, Barb, Tonya, and Bonnie!

As we plan and prepare students for the Sonatina Competition, I think it is good to remember that the real marker of student success is not winning a competition, but the development of solid pianistic skills that allow students to enjoyably play the piano throughout their lifetime. I want to emphasize the joy part. If a student only experiences learning pieces to participate in Sonatina Competition and Music Festival, most likely they will always see playing the piano as work to prepare for an event. My mission is that students learning to play the piano experience music as another means for self-expression, creativity, and joy. This does not mean lowering standards; if anything, it means raising the bar. I don't think any upper level Sonatina Competition entrant should win if they cannot demonstrate basic functional piano skills. For this reason, I believe in a future year (not 2017) we might consider adding a short sight-reading test to the adjudication process for the higher levels. We shouldn't be producing one or two-piece wonders who don't have functional piano skills, and I believe sight-reading is perhaps the most important of those skills.

I am hoping that as we go forward we will be able to host more events like the Piano Caroling event planned for December 16 (please read more about it in this newsletter). Non-adjudicated events that allow students to play the piano, interact with other pianists, and serve the community are fantastic ways to allow students to put some joy into playing. I would also love to see another event develop that allows students to work collaboratively.

I cannot forget the five tenets of Justin Nielsen's philosophy that he shared with us in January: 1) Music is fun by nature. 2) Music is communal, meant to be shared. 3) Excellence is a natural outgrowth of passion. 4) Music should be performed often. 5) Every student has incalculable worth. I cannot say it any better than that!

Corrine Van Dyk, NCTM

Brava Piano Duo--CSI Stagedoor Series

Where: CSI Auditorium

Time: 7:30 pm

Contact: Sue Miller

What: Join the Brava Piano Duo - Sue Miller and Allison Bangarter - in a concert of music written for two pianists by composers who are still living. Upon entering the stage door, audience members will enjoy a display of new art by local artists. While Bach and Beethoven will always have a place in musicians' hearts, this program presents the work of some of the most exciting new and upcoming composers of the 20th and 21st centuries. Highlights include the rhythmically provocative set of Latin dances called "Recuerdos" by William Bolcom and Ned Rorem's "Six Variations for Two Pianos" which explores contemplative and rhythmically exciting variations. Commissioned specially for the Brava Piano Duo, this concert includes the world premiere of "Alternance" by composer David Batchelor. Be prepared for an intimate evening of new music and new art.

$10 adult admission, $5 Students

TEACHER SPOTLIGHT

This section will rotate teachers in our area each month, in an effort to encourage networking and getting to know each other better.

LISA PETTIT

Lisa Pettit studied piano at Brigham Young University and received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1992. She also has a Master of Music Degree from Colorado State University in Music Therapy. She has been teaching piano for 23 years. ## IMPORTANT CHAPTER NOTES

Anybody who has an idea for a group teacher discussion should contact Corrine regarding leading a discussion at a future meeting. We would love to hear from anyone who would like to share!

Don't forget to always inform IMTA and MVMTA of any email address changes. We will not be responsible for members missing notifications if you have changed your email addresses and not notified us.

Also, please don't forget to send Corrine an email if you'd like your phone number listed on the website's teacher directory, which is only viewable by MVMTA members.

OTHER NEWS

Congratulations to Allison Bangerter, she was awarded an MTNA Teacher Enrichment Grant. Allison was also able to attend the Alan Fraser Piano Institute this summer!

MVMTA now has a website! In case you haven't checked it out yet, check it out now! It will be an important tool for registration, directory, and other things for our members. Thanks to Corrine Van Dyk for coordinating with Heidi Leben of Handmade Designs to put together such a beautiful, functional website! You can find it at magicvalleymta.org.

MVMTA is also on Facebook! If you have a Facebook account, take a minute to search for Magic Valley Music Teachers and "like" the page. We won't post updates that we don't already email on there, but it can be a positive way to be more visible to the community. If you have any suggestions for posts or use of the MVMTA Facebook page, contact Tonya Robertson.
